About the Cover: As China's rapid urban expansion proceeds, the strains on its precious water supplies are becoming a major concern. Both water availability and quality are impacting the human population and wildlife. This issue's Feature by Cheng et al. discusses initiatives mounted by the Chinese government to address water resource sustainability. Also inside, research by Mai et al. reported on by Kellyn Betts addresses toxicants bioaccumulating in waterbirds and other wildlife. Cover photograph of Beijing from iStockphoto.
