October 2006, Volume 60, No. 10

Features

A Taste of Tomorrow on Restaurant Row
Restaurants are responding to economic and demographic pressures with anytime snacks, affordable catering, drinkable desserts, and other new offerings.
- A. Elizabeth Sloan

IFT's Education Standards: A Report Card
The most recent revision of IFT's Education Standards five years ago radically changed the approach to reviewing food science programs. Here's the result.
- Richard W. Hartel

Organic Foods
IFT's latest Scientific Status Summary comprehensively compares organic and conventional foods. Here's a synopsis.
- Carl K. Winter

Columns

President's Message
IFT and the Food Science Profession
- Dennis R. Heldman

Food, Medicine, & Health
Energy Conundrum
- Roger Clemens & Peter Pressman

Ingredients
How Formulators Stay on Top of the World
- Donald E. Pszczola

Nutraceuticals
Meeting Today's Health Concerns
- Linda Milo Ohr

Laboratory
Food Allergen Test Kits
- Linda L. Leake

Processing
Food Irradiation Update
- J. Peter Clark

Packaging
Sustainability: A New Buzz in Food Packaging
- Aaron L. Brody

IFT Newsmakers
How IFT Communicates with News Media
- James N. Klapthor

Perspective
Ten Myths About High-Fructose Corn Syrup