

TABLE OF CONTENTS

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY	1
A. Biodiversity, an Essential Development Asset in the GMS	1
B. Threats to Biodiversity and Natural Resources	2
C. Biodiversity Conservation Corridors: a Development Strategy	2
D. Priority GMS Biodiversity Conservation Landscapes	3
E. Protected Areas in the Biodiversity Conservation Landscapes.....	3
F. Population and Poverty in the Biodiversity Landscapes.....	4
G. Key Governance Opportunities for Effective Biodiversity Corridor Management.....	4
H. The Biodiversity Conservation Corridors Initiative.....	5
I. Partnerships and Sustainable Financing.....	8
J. Expected Benefits of the Initiative	8
I. BACKGROUND	9
A. Greater Mekong Subregion	9
B. Development Program in the GMS Economic Corridors.....	10
C. Critical Value of the GMS Environment and Natural Resources.....	11
D. Socioeconomic Context in the GMS.....	12
E. Policy, Legal, and Institutional Framework.....	16
II. THREATS TO BIODIVERSITY AND NATURAL RESOURCES.....	21
A. Overexploitation of Natural Resources and Habitat Loss.....	21
B. Wildlife Trade.....	22
C. Construction of Transnational Roads	23
D. Other Economic Activities.....	23
E. Weak Capacity in Biodiversity Conservation Management.....	24
F. Critical Governance Issues and Opportunities	24
III. JUSTIFICATION FOR BIODIVERSITY LANDSCAPES AND CORRIDORS.....	26
A. Relevance of Biodiversity Conservation Landscapes and Corridors	26
B. Economic Benefits of Biodiversity and Ecosystem Services.....	30
IV. BIODIVERSITY CONSERVATION LANDSCAPES IN THE GMS	31
A. Selection of Priority Landscapes	31
B. Priority GMS Biodiversity Conservation Landscapes	32
C. Protected Areas in the GMS Biodiversity Conservation Landscapes	36
D. Transnational Roads Affecting the Priority Biodiversity Conservation Landscapes.....	37
V. THE BCI PROPOSAL.....	37
A. Objectives and Scope.....	37
B. BCI Approach	41
C. Selection of Pilot Sites.....	44
VI. IMPLEMENTATION ARRANGEMENTS	46
A. Program Management at Regional Level.....	46
B. Program Management at National Level.....	48
C. Site-level Project Management.....	49
D. Operationalizing BCI program and Pilot Site Projects.....	50
E. Disbursement Arrangements and Fund Flows	51
F. Accounting, Auditing, and Reporting	51
G. Program Performance Monitoring and Evaluation	52
VII. PROGRAM FUNDING.....	53
A. Cost Estimate	53
B. Financing Sources	54
VIII. PROGRAM BENEFITS, IMPACTS AND RISKS.....	55
A. Benefits	55
B. Impacts	55
C. Risks and Assumptions	56

IX. PROGRAM SUSTAINABILITY	56
A. National Economic Instruments	57
B. Domestic Private Sector Investment	58
C. Innovative International Financial Flows.....	58

ANNEXES

Annex 1: Logframe of the GMS BCI Program

Annex 2: GMS BCI Action Plan (2005–2008)

Annex 3: Pilot Site Proposals

 Annex 3-1: Cardamoms Biodiversity Conservation Corridors, Cambodia

 Annex 3-2: Xe Pian–Dong Hua Sao–Dong Ampham Biodiversity Conservation
Corridors, Lao People's Democratic Republic

 Annex 3-3: Xishuangbanna Biodiversity Conservation Corridors, People's Republic of China

 Annex 3-4: The Tenasserim Biodiversity Conservation Corridors, Western Forest
Complex - Kaeng Krachan Complex, Thailand

 Annex 3-5: Ngoc Linh–Xe Sap Biodiversity Conservation Corridors, Viet Nam

Annex 4: Administrative, Legal, and Institutional Context

Annex 5: BCI GIS Database: Current Status and Gaps