

CONTENTS

Foreword	5
Opening Remarks	9
Welcoming Address	11
Introduction	12
UNCSTD: The Challenge of Vienna
UNCSTD: Background, Objectives, and Ultimate Goals	15
Views from Developing Countries	19
Discussion Summary	25
International Scene
Obstacles to the Use of Science and Technology for Development	29
Role of the International Scientific Community	33
Science and Technology Policy in Developed and Developing Countries	39
Interface Between Science and Technology and Socioeconomic and Cultural Development	43
Discussion and Summary	46
Canadian Experience
DIDA: Experience in Technical Assistance and the Transfer of Technology	57
IDRC: Experiment in International Development	63
Discussion and Summary	71
The Canadian Scientific Community responds to the Challenge: the Present	73
New Directions
Governmental View of Science and Technology for International Development	81
Operations Research in needed at Home and Abroad in Development	85
Doing the Job
The Inter-University Council in Great Britain	91
Netherlands Universities Foundation for International Cooperation	95
International Development Office of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada	99
The Swedish Agency for Research Cooperation with developing Countries	101
Institute for Scientific and Technological Cooperation	105
The International Foundation for Science	109
Discussion and Summary	112
Canada's Contribution
Preview of Canada's Contribution to the Vienna Conference	117
The Canadian Scientific Community responds to the Challenge: the Future	123
Participants	129

