

CONTENTS

| | |
|--|-----|
| Chapter 1. Productivity and its relationship with economic development | 1 |
| Chapter 2. Labor, capital and total factor productivity studies – macro and micro-economic – considerations | 9 |
| Chapter 3. Productivity and economic development plans | 19 |
| Chapter 4. The strategy for development: the principles of balanced and unbalanced growth and- of specific advantages | 29 |
| Chapter 5. Demography and development | 37 |
| Chapter 6. Population growth and natural resources | 51 |
| Chapter 7. The basic problem of over-population and under-development | 55 |
| Chapter 8. The role of nationalism and the spirit of self-reliance in the process of economic- development: the example of Japan | 65 |
| Chapter 9. The role of the government in the process of development | 75 |
| Chapter 10. The production-consumption cycle: inflation, recession and the distributive aspect of – productivity | 83 |
| Chapter 11. Productivity, economic development, and the quality of human life | 89 |
| Chapter 12. A few basic considerations in bringing about techno-managerial changes for economic – development | 95 |
| Chapter 13. National productivity and agriculture | 103 |
| Chapter 14. National productivity and small and medium scale industries | 107 |
| Chapter 15. Productivity, economic development and international co-operation | 115 |