

CONTENTS

First Part. Introduction	1
1.1 Origins	1
1.2 Nomenclature	4
1.3 Terms and definitions	5
Second Part. Theory and Practice	13
2.1 The Basic Golay Equation	13
2.2 Practical Conclusions from the Golay Equation	14
2.3 Comparison with Packed Columns	26
2.4 The Influence of Temperature	63
2.5 Sample Capacity	65
2.6 Open Tubular Columns of Various Diameters	69
Third Part. Preparation of Open Tubular Columns	75
3.1 Tubing	75
3.2 Coating of the Column Tubing	79
3.3 Testing of Open Tubular Columns	93
3.4 Increase of the Inside Surface Area of the Column Tubing	97
3.5 Adsorption-Type Open Tubular Columns	103
Fourth Part. The Gas Chromatographic System	111
4.1 Sample Introduction	112
4.2 The Pneumatic System	117
4.3 Column Heating	120
4.4 Detection and Recording	131
Fifth Part. Bibliography	137
Sixth Part. Supplements	157
6.1 Calculation of the "Air Peak" Time	157
6.2 Instrumentation	162
