

CONTENTS

1	Collecting, Handling and Housing Gemstones	5
2	Refractive Index and its Measurement	15
3	Double Refraction and Dispersion	42
4	Colour, Colour Filters, and the Dichroscope	53
5	The Specific Gravity of Gemstones and How to Measure it	60
6	Detection of Synthetic and Imitation Stones	74
7.	The Use of the microscope	122
8.	The Use of the Spectroscope	134
9.	Fluorescence as an Aid to Identification	171
10.	The Identification of Diamond	183
11.	The Identification of Ruby	203
12.	The Identification of Sapphire	214
13.	Identification of Emerald	223
14.	Aquamarine of Alexandrine	223
15.	Zircon	240
16.	Topaz and Other Yellow Stones	249
17.	Pink, Mauve, or Lilac Stones	255
18.	Brown and Orange Stones	259
19.	Quartz, Chalcedony, and Opal	264
20.	The Garnet Family	278
21.	Tourmaline, Peridot, and Spinel	290
22.	Jade and Jade-like Minerals	298
23.	Truquoise and Lapis Lazuli	308
24.	Cat's-eyes, Star-stones, and Others	314
25.	Amber, Tortoiseshell, Coral, and Jet	322
26.	Pearls: Real, Cultured, and Imitation	327
	Appendix	348
	Recommended Suppliers	373
	Index	375