7 Introduction

25 National specifications

Note: in 28 countries which have no National Standards, it has been pointed out that the standards from one or several other countries are applied in a more or less official, or fairly systematic, way. Where such is the case, the country's name is followed by an indication in brackets of the standards to which reference must usually be made, namely: F for France, UK for United Kingdom, US for United States, B for Belgium and IND for India.
