

CONTENTS

About the Editors	iii
Preface	v
Chapter 1	Managing the Creative Process : Techniques and Approaches In Scientific organizations 1
Chapter 2	$E=GR^2 P$: A Model for Managing R&D Teams 17
Chapter 3	Public-Private Partnerships in Agriculture Research 30
Chapter 4	Developing and Delivering Economic Intelligence on Industrial Uses of Agricultural Materials 41
Chapter 5	Commercialization of Cornstarch-Derived Glycosides For Textiles, Wood Adhesives, and Other Applications 59
Chapter 6	Commercializing Technology : From Laboratory to The Marketplace---A Case Study of Starch-Based Biodegradable Plastics Technology 78
Chapter 7	Information : A Renewable Resources in the Analysis of Protein Structure and Function 88
Chapter 8	Protein Polysaccharide Interactions During Network Formation : Observations Involving Canola Protein 108
Chapter 9	The Application of Raman Spectroscopy to the Structural Analysis Of Food Protein Networks 123
Chapter 10	Optically Polarized ^{129}Xe NMR as a Probe of Mobility In Polymers and Organic Thin Films 140
Chapter 11	Branching and Molecular Weight Analysis of Starch via Proton Nuclear Magnetic Resonance 156
Chapter 12	Industrial Product Opportunities from Research Sponsored by the United Soybean Board 177
Chapter 13	Soy Protein : A Renewable Resource for Food And Nonfood Ingredients 183
Chapter 14	Protein Chain Immobilization Factors for Edible Emulsion Films 198

Chapter 15	Emulsified Soy Protein-Lipid Films	213
Chapter 16	Plastification Properties of Plant Storage Proteins with Respect To the Degree of Modification by Acylation Techniques--- Protein Plastification	227
Chapter 17	Thermochemical Derivaization of Soybean and Corn Protein Products with Citric Acid to Enhance Metal-Binding Properties	232
Chapter 18	Production of Fibers by Extrusion and Wet-Spinning from Soy Protein Isolate and Zein : Properties and Prospects	247
Chapter 19	Composition Factors Affecting the Physical Properties of Hydrophilic Zein Films	255
Chapter 20	Starch-Oil Composites Prepared by Steam Jet Cooking : Preparation, Properties, and Applications	266
Index		287