
Contents

Preface	ix
Author biographies	xi
Acknowledgments	xv
1 Emerging corporate knowledge needs: how and where does sensory fit?	1
2 Making use of existing knowledge and increasing its business value—the forgotten productivity tool	17
3 Understanding consumers' and customers' needs—the growth engine	41
4 Innovation's friend: integrated market and sensory input for food product design and development	83
5 A process to bring consumer mind-sets into a corporation	115
6 Developing relevant concepts	135
7 High-level product assessments	167
8 So what can sensory do for me (or for my company)?	207
9 What types of tests do sensory researchers do to measure sensory response to the product? and . . . why do they do them?	229
10 What can sensory researchers do to characterize products? and . . . how does one select the best method?	283
11 So what are the practical considerations in actually running a test? what do I need to know? what does the rest of the company need to know?	321
12 Evolving sensory research	365
13 Addressable Minds™ and directed innovation: new vistas for the sensory community	381
Index	409