

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Chapter I – Rediscovering A Food Industry	1
Chapter II – Reducing Costs Through Processed Foods	7
Chapter III – Dehydration’s Place In Food Economy	13
Chapter IV – The Post-War Opportunity In Dehydration	26
Chapter V – Where Dehydration Fits In	40
Chapter VI – Problems of The Manufacturer	59
Chapter VII – Marketing: The Customer’s Angle	74
Chapter VIII – Dehydrated Foods Of The Future	85
Members of the National Dehydrators Association	103

TABLES

I – Typical Food Products Suitable For Dehydration	109
II – Geographic Distribution of Food Dehydrators	117
III – Government Requirements For Dehydrated Foods	118
IV – Dehydrated Commodities Purchased During September 1943	120
V – Amount of Dehydrated Vegetables Required to Produce One Pound of Rehydrated Product	121
VI – List of Dehydrated Products	122
VII – List of Products Dehydrated In Foreign Countries	124
Bibliography On Dehydrated Foods	125